APGI AWARDS

Maurice-Marie Janot Lecture

This award was created in 1986 by APGI, the Paul Neumann Foundation for Scientific Research and the Francophone Association of Teachers of Pharmaceutical Technology. It is now supported by AVENTIS Pharma. Its goal is to reward an international-level researcher for the quality and innovative character of his/her research work. The winner is designated by a thirty-member international jury presided by Professor Trevor M. Jones.

The award is given on the occasion of the APGI International Congress. The recipients of this award have been:

- 1986 Professor Stanley S. Davis (United Kingdom)
- 1989 Professor Joseph R. Robinson (United States)
- 1992 Professor H. Sezaki (Japan)
- 1995 Professor Daan J.A. Crommelin (The Netherlands)
- 1998 Professor Francis Puisieux (France)
- 2000 Professor Hans E. Junginger (The Netherlands)
- 2002 Professor Thomas Kissel (Germany)
- 2004 Professor Paolo Colombo (Italy)

Thesis awards

These annual awards, granted jointly by AVENTIS Pharma and APGI, recognize theses written as the culmination of the Pharmaceutical Technology PhD programme.
